In miles, Toulon and Marseilles are a long way off. With the present speedy means of communication, however, it does not take much time for an infectious disease to travel from one seaport to another, nor, indeed, to cross the widest ocean on the Ion to New York easily inside of ten days, by probably reach this country from that locality, if Marseilles the transit would probably not be made very long time; and, supposing the disease to be introduced in that way, it would still have from four to six weeks to work destruction in before coid in the six weeks to work destruction in the six weeks were also were as well as the six weeks were also were as well as well as well as well as well as well as weather arrives to give it a set-back. But even that does not always check its ravages, as the history of its course in all countries clearly shows. These are the possibilities of the case; and there 1s great danger that they will become probabilities, unless prompt and effective measures are taken, both to keep the disease out of the country and to stay its march, should it once gain a foothold on our shores. The general government will doubtless do all it can, by precautionary measures and the do all it can, by precautionary measures and the enforcement of stringent quarantine regulations, to prevent the introduction of the disease into the country. These steps may be greatly and there. country. These steps may be effective, and they may not. But at the best, they of themselves are not enough, and they must not be relied upon solely. Should the disease once pass that barrier 1t would surely and speedly spread over the country by all communicating lines of travel, and wherever it finds a congenial spot it will reap its harvest of death and sorrow. Obviously, then, a serious duty is imposed both upon local municipal authorities and upon the people themselves. It is a well-settled fact that cholera thrives on filth, and that it finds its best subjects in persons of irregular and intemperate habits. Nothing is, therefore, simpler or plainer than the proposition that every city and village in the country should at once be put in the best sani-tary condition possible. Furthermore, every effort in this direction on the part of the authorities O O F should be encouraged and supplemented by citizens of all classes and degrees. Not only should streets, alleys, sewers, etc., be at once carefully and thoroughly overhauled and cleansed, but all public and private premises should be subjected to the same processes. It will be well, too, for both old and young to be scrupulously careful as to what they eat and drink, especially during the heated term. Unripe or stale fruits and vegetables should be avoided entirely, and even those ripe and fresh should be used in moderation. Heating stimulants should be forsworn entirely, and ice water, if drank at all, should be used sparingly, and never when the system is heated. In other words, and in short, be cleanly, in person and in surroundings, and see that your neighbor's premises are likewise in good condition. Be temperate, also, in all things, remembering that prevention is always both cheaper and more certain than cure.

40> There are enough surface indications to apparently justify the theory advanced in political cirmination through by acclamation before opposiould be assured, and that when the electoral colfirst sight, but, like many other "sure things," it place, there are too many aspirants for the prize, who will hardly care to see it awarded to the holder of a blank ticket; and in the second place, the country may not go so wildly in favor of Mr. Tilden as this scheme presupposes. But for these little drawbacks it might work successfully.

The diplomatic appointments made yesterday, like most of those sent to the Senate by President Arthur, were marked by good judgment. They the officers was the basis of promotion. The nomitration of the bureau in the interest of the working classes, for whose benefit it was created.

The democratic medicine men are already sitting up nights together conferring over the vexatious desired and proposed by the republicans. The New tude should be by an experimental plank calling The Herald impolitely laughs at this suggestion as inmeaning and arrant nonsense," and it would meet with scant respect from the western revenue reformers who will be in a numerical majority at

It is generally conceded that if Cleveland can go nto the convention as the candidate of New York im centers, therefore, on the state delegation, and tio of wheat to chaff in these reports. It is evidates, and no one can from this distance predict

In the running races at Chicago yesterday, the Columbia sweepstakes, for all ages, was won by Freeland. For the running races to be held there next week for the Columbia sweepstakes, open to STOCK-WE KNOW OF BUT FEW-YOU MUST all, there are quite a number of entries. Many are betting on that fine old steed Tilden, who, though | INDULGE US, FOR WE ARE ENTITLED TO IT, FOR aged and infirm, is believed to have a good deal of IT IS THE FIRST TIME WE HAVE ASKED IT OF wind and muscle yet. The familiar inscription which Dante put over the entrance to the infernal regions, "Abandon hope all ye who enter here," might appropriately be written over the doors of the document rooms of Congress. Out of 11,000 bills which have been entered here during the session, only 150 have emerged in the shape of acts. To-day's industry $40,000 WORTH OF FURNITURE may bring the total somewhat higher, but the number will be insignificant as compared with the mass of bills submitted.

If no very gorgeous celebration marked the observance of the Fourth, it was free on the other hand from any notable casualities; except that the National base ball club gave their esteemed cotemporaries two very black eyes.
